WORDSEARCH WINNER

SPRING '88 WORDSEARCH

Well done Nicola Josephs of Grey Close, winner of the spring wordsearch competition. Nicola, age 11, has lived in the Suburb all her life. She went to school locally at Anne mount and moved on to Haberdashers. She is due to move into the senior school in September. Nicola loves sport especially netball, swimming, gym and running. She plays the violin and is the leader of her school orchestra. She is a keen collector of commemoration mugs, foreign dolls and postage stamps. She is also a member of the 3rd Hampstead Garden Suburb Guide Pack. When Nicola grows up, she would like her career to be in medicine. With her Book Token she will buy an adventure book. It was her suggestion that the subject of the summer wordsearch should be musical instruments! EW

PAVILION CENTRE

The Pavilion Children's Centre will be meeting at its temporary home at East Finchley library when it re-opens for the autumn term on September 6.

The group was forced to move out of its original home in the pavilion in Lyttelton Playing Fields, Hampstead Garden Suburb, last November while Barnet Council carried out essential roof repairs costing in the region of £40,000.

It had been hoped that the centre, which provides play facilities for the under-threes, could have returned to the pavilion in time for the autumn. Now Barnet say that the electrical wiring in the pavilion must be made safe before the centre can return. It was estimated that the work would have cost a further £14,000, which Barnet said they could not afford to pay. However, the council have decided to carry out temporary repairs.

The centre, however, was allowed to hold its annual summer festival outside the pavilion in July. In spite of bad weather, crowds turned up to see the magnificent shire horse team and dray from Young's Brewery, Wandsworth, who were providing rides through the playing fields for children and their parents. Postman Pat was on duty and other attractions included a bouncing castle, donkeys and live music from the Youth Music Centre and a brass band from Highgate School. East Enders' actor Leonard Fenton opened the event.

The festival raised £1,100. A donation will be made to the children's kidney research programme at the Royal Free Hospital, Hampstead. The remainder will go to finance the activities of the centre, itself a charity. The centre was started five years ago by a group of mothers in the suburb who realised there were no facilities for the under-threes and their parents in the area. It is run entirely by the voluntary efforts of mothers whose children attend the centre. MH

ROAD SAFETY COMPETITION

Garden Suburb Junior School reached the finals of the Metropolitan Police Road Trophy Competition held at the Police Cadet School at Hendon on 19th May 1988. Fifty-four schools from the Borough of Barnet and Hertsmere entered this annual competition which covers police work, road safety and community responsibility.

Answering questions before a large audience including two Mayors, headteachers, police officers, parents and friends the children showed poise and knowledge which shared most of the adults present.

Deborah Sussman, Clare Whittaker, Judith King, Raphael Abraham and Nishank Shah made up the Suburb team. After a hard fought battle they came a credit worthy fourth with Habadasher Aske Girls School winning in good style.
