

SUMMER FAIR AT SUBURB SCHOOL

Stephen Fogel and son, clowns for the day.

It was Rosemary Gaskell-Taylor's turn to organise the Garden Suburb School PTA's Summer Fair and it was an unqualified success both as a social function with children, parents and staff from both infant and junior schools getting to know one another and in raising money for the school, some £7,000; a record.

Queuing for face painting.

Synchronised ice creams.

Hannah Davidson charms the punters.

Peter Phillips kept Simon Says going all day.
