

SUBURB WEEKEND FIRST OF MANY?

Rabbi Jackson addresses visitors to Norrice Lea

SYNAGOGUE VISIT

As their contribution to the Suburb's Weekend celebrations, Norrice Lea Synagogue held an open afternoon on May 30th. It was the first time for several years that such an event had taken place, and by a happy coincidence the synagogue was looking especially colourful due to the floral decorations provided for the recently celebrated Pentecost Festival which were still on view. Rabbi Edward Jackson was the host for the afternoon and began by giving an introductory talk on the Synagogue followed by a tour. Following a question and answer session the visitors were shown an exhibition of the work of the pupils of Kieron School followed by refreshments.

The afternoon was most enjoyable and it is hoped that future open days will follow more regularly in the future.

FHA FETE ON THE SQUARE

Thanks to the wonderful support of the Garden Suburb residents the Family Holiday Association fete again broke all records. When advertising revenue and sponsorship money, yet to come are added to the afternoon's takings of £7,125, the final figure will be in excess of £9,000.

Next year is the International Year of the Family so appropriate to the F.H.A. and the fete committee have set themselves a target of £10,000.

The charity that last year provided holiday grants for 905 families, for most of them, their first holiday ever, are always seeking more helpers. Some to take part in the hustle and bustle of the afternoon and equally important, providers of marmalade, cakes and the like.

Our MP trumps his constituents

The Sunday afternoon programme of the Hampstead Garden Suburb Weekend included a duplicate bridge match in the Tea House, open to all comers. It was jointly organised by the Suburb Bridge Club and the bridge students at the Institute, whose senior tutor, Paul Levy, officiated as Director.

The first prize was won by John Marshall MP and his partner Mrs Linda Schama, with an excellent percentage score; they were closely challenged by the second pair, 'Sockey' Orkin and Mrs Freda Gold of the Suburb Bridge Club; the winners of the median prize were Mrs Marjorie Scanlon and Mrs Maureen Page, also keen Suburb Bridge Club regulars.
