

CELEBRATING THE DIAMOND JUBILEE

The Suburb could be said to have done Her Majesty proud as residents didn't let the disappointing summer weather damp the spirits of hundreds who turned out in our streets, closes and squares to celebrate the Queen's diamond jubilee in June. Shown here are a few of the many pictures sent to Suburb News of street parties in Hampstead Way, fantastic cakes; Wordsworth Walk, where they had even commissioned a Jubilee mug; Brookland Hill; Constable Close, colourful with masses of bunting; Denman Drive, where distinguish visitors mingled with equally distinguished residents; and Raeburn Close where patriotic face painting was the order of the day.
